GOMPERS DEFENDS BIG LABOR ORGANIZATIONS IN NEW YORK DEBATE

Supreme Court Holds No Man Must Work Against His Will, He States

ALLEN MAKES REPLY

"Safety of the Public Is the Supreme Law," Governor Tells Carnegie Hall Audience

New York, May 28.—Carnegie hall was packed to the doors tonight when Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, met to debate the merits of the recently enacted Kansas industrial court law and kindred subjects. Judge Alton B. Parker of this city presided, and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Gompers and Governor Allen walked on to the stage shortly after 8 o'clock, while the audience arose and cheered. Each was followed by a large body of supporters. When the first wave of cheering had subsided, the governor played "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and the applause was renewed.

Says Longshoremen Will Return.

Mr. Gompers, the first speaker, prefaced his arguments with the announcement that he had been in conference during the day with representatives of the striking longshoremen and that they had authorized him to state they were "willing to submit, pending controversies to a fair and unbiased board of arbitration and will abide themselves in advance to abide by its decision."

He declared further that the longshoremen would return to work within six hours after the steamship companies had signified their willingness to arbitrate.

Herbert Hoover, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, James W. Gerard, Henry D. Davidson, George W. Wickesham, Paul M. Warburg, Paul D. Cravath, George Foster Peabody, and Miss Mary Garrett Hay were among those occupying seats on the platform or in the boxes when the debate began.

"We are now at the parting of the way in the great controversies which now are occupying the minds of our people," declared Mr. Gompers, beginning his direct argument of the debate. "On the one hand we have the great constructive movement for progress, for civilization, and with all the tasks these impose, and on the other hand we have those who are lending the course of reaction, of injustice, of tyranny. This time is at hand when it must be determined whether the eternal principles of freedom, justice and democracy shall hold sway or be supplanted by the tyranny and the injustice of the old."

Gompers' "Fundamental Principles."

Mr. Gompers said he wanted to lay down a few fundamental principles, and one of his executive committee, Mrs. Sarah A. Conboy, read the following statement:

"The fact that the voluntary organizations of the wage workers are declared by the courts to be trusts and combinations in illegal restraint of trade, does not necessarily constitute them, in fact, the unions of workers are not such. None of their activities in behalf of the toilers or society at large can be confused with the selfish and pernicious activities of the illegal trusts."

"The trust, even at its best, is an organization of a few to monopolize production and control distribution of material products. The voluntary associations of the wage workers for mutual benefit and assistance are essentially different. The fact must not be lost sight of that the power of labor is not a material commodity. There can be no trust in anything which is not produced."

Resuming his address, Mr. Gompers said:

"There is a common error in the minds of a large number of our people, and people of the whole world, who confuse the term 'capital and labor' as being in exactly equal position toward each other. The fact of the matter is that capital is the product of labor."

The difference between a slave and a free man is that the slave must work when his master or owner directs and tells. The free man may stop his work whenever consequences of suffering that may be involved in his suffering, and the suffering of no one else. The right of a free man to dispose of himself, of his labor, and his labor power, has been set forth in a Supreme court decision—an opinion read by the then associate justice of the supreme court, Mr. Hughes—in which the principle is set forth clearly that no man is free, that involuntary servitude exists when a man must work against his will."

Governor Allen to the Defense.

Governor Allen lost no time in coming to the defense of the Kansas industrial court, building his argument on the premise that "the safety of the public is the supreme law."

He declared that this was the fundamental axiom upon which he and his supporters were working, and which governs his attitude toward

GARY DENOUNCES LABOR AGITATORS

Steel Head Says Efforts Are Being Made to Demoralize the Country By Strikes

New York, May 28.—Charges that efforts are being made to disturb and demoralize social and economic conditions of the country by strikes were made today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, in an address at the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

"The present so-called labor strikes involving riot and injury to property and person," he said, "are instigated as a part of the campaign to disturb and demoralize the social and economic conditions of the country. In other lands very serious results have been accomplished by the same means which have been employed here."

A comparatively small minority of the population of the United States, he said, had adopted the word "labor" with the concealed design of forming a class which they hope finally will attract a majority of the people and thus enable them to obtain legislation, which would ultimately destroy the constitution.

"These men have already procured certain legislation which is wrongfully discriminating," Mr. Gary said. "Some of them know what the final consequence of their designs must be, that all would be lost in the ruins, but immediate gain is to them sufficient justification."

"The safe, efficacious and natural remedy for the perils which have been hinted at are to be found only in unity of purpose and effort on the part of the whole crew on board our ship of state, an undivided loyalty to the principles of our constitution and all the laws which are passed in conformity to it."

Judge Gary denounced labor agitators, saying:

"Agitators, who are trying to create trouble between employers and their employees, as a rule are insincere and selfish. Generally, they, themselves, have performed no hard labor. Their business is better, their compensation increased, when others are in trouble. They promise reforms, but their methods lead to trouble and loss to others. In this list are included a few writers, lecturers, public speakers and self-appointed labor leaders, so-called."

Oneida Milk Producers Vote Support of League

Utica, May 28.—Milk producers of Oneida county voted today to stand behind the officers of the Dairymen's League, Inc., "in their efforts to secure cost plus a reasonable profit for the production of the milk sold."

The fixed prices of $2.85 per 100 pounds for June, $2.95 for July, $3.05 for August, and $3.15 for September are the lowest figures, farmers hold, which could be considered for the sale of milk during the next four months.

Oneida county dairymen expect no trouble from the dealers over the new scale.

SENATE SEEKS LIGHT ON M'ADOO'S BOOM

Reporter Who Alleges $5,000,000 Fund Had Been Underwritten Takes the Stand

Washington, May 28.—Though reverting twice into Republican affairs, the senate committee investigating expenditures in the pre-convention presidential campaign bent its chief efforts today toward locating the financial sources—if any—of what Chairman Kenyon described as "this invisible McAdoo boom."

Angus McLean of North Carolina denied that he was "a sort of southern manager for Mr. McAdoo's candidacy," but later related a conversation he had had with the former secretary of the treasury, which he said was concluded with a statement by Mr. McAdoo that "a man couldn't decline" a presidential nomination if tendered him.

Louis J. Lang, reporter for the New York American, another witness, was questioned closely as to newspaper articles which he had written alleging that a $5,000,000 fund had been underwritten for a McAdoo campaign. He refused to disclose names of his informants, but said "members of the Democratic national committee corroborated the story."

In interludes of the McAdoo testimony, the committee took evidence from Frank A. Harris of Lincoln, Neb., newspaper publisher, who said that $1,200 had been spent for Senator Johnson's primary campaign in his state.

Harry M. Daugherty, manager of Senator Harding's campaign organization, was recalled and questioned about newspaper and other advertising furnished for Major General Leonard Wood's campaign in Ohio, which he claimed as "very extensive."

Mr. Harrison said the same was true of the Nebraska Wood campaign.

20 COLLEGES COMPETE FOR ATHLETIC HONORS

Pennsylvania First, Princeton Second and Cornell Third in Championship Events

Franklin Field, Philadelphia, May 28.—For the first time in many years, an outstanding favorite failed to develop in the preliminaries of the intercollegiate track and field championship held here today. So closely were the trials fought out in the 11 events contested that at the close of the day any one of five or six institutions was in a position to capture the forty-fourth championship of the I. C. A. A. in the finals tomorrow.

Twenty colleges and universities placed one or more men in the semi-finals and finals scheduled for Saturday, and finally the one and two-mile runs, in which the entrants were not required to participate in elimination heats. Pennsylvania, the host to the visiting athletes from all parts of the east and the Pacific coast, led with a total of 15, with the Princeton runners and field athletes right at the Quakers' heels with 14. Cornell was third with 11 qualifiers, California and Dartmouth were tied for fourth place, with 7, and Stanford was fifth with 6.

Notwithstanding the perfect weather and track conditions, no records were broken.

The feature of the first day's contests was the remarkable showing made by the two Pacific coast universities, California and Stanford. Crossing the continent with a combined force of but eight entrants, the two far western institutions placed at least one man in each of the 11 events, and closed the afternoon with a total of 15 qualifiers.

Pennsylvania and Princeton showed well-balanced teams, which are expected to put up a great battle for first place honors Saturday. Cornell's survivors were carried through seven of the 11 events, and the Ithaca contingent is counted on scoring heavily in the two distance runs tomorrow. The division of the finals tomorrow afternoon, in which points are allotted on the basis of five for first, four for second, three for third, two for fourth, and one for fifth place, is expected to be one of the closest in the history of the association and one or two upsets on either track or field are quite likely to open the way for a dark horse victory.

WILSON SEES LEAGUE AS BIGGEST ISSUE OF NOVEMBER CAMPAIGN

Unreserved Ratification of Versailles Treaty Is His Objective

GIVES PLATFORM VIEWS

Writes Glass He Is in Full Accord With Virginia Democratic Convention's Sentiments

Washington, May 28.—President Wilson's conception of the campaign issues of 1920 was elucidated today in a letter made public at the White House expressing the President's full accord with the sentiments contained in the platform recently adopted by the Virginia Democratic convention.

The league of nations plank, which declared for ratification of the treaty of Versailles "without reservations which would impair its essential integrity" was particularly commended by the President. He also singled out for praise the platform's declaration on finance and reconstruction, which included a general proposal to revise tax laws and deplored agitation for an "indiscriminate bonus" for soldiers of the great war.

The letter was addressed to Senator Glass of Virginia, who drafted the state platform, and its publication from the White House generally was regarded as forecasting what the President and his supporters would expect to be written into the party's national platform at San Francisco. The national platform was not mentioned directly by the President, though he wrote that the Virginia Democrats had "set forth the attitude of the party" on the league of nations and other important issues.

League Plan Holds Big Place.

The league plan occupies a large place in the Virginia platform, embracing a declaration for "a league of nations," and praising "the exceptional achievement at Paris involved in the adoption of a league and treaty so near akin to American ideals." The President is praised for "steadfastly standing for the covenant agreed to" and the Republican reservations and peace resolution are condemned.

Some of the other features of the Virginia platform are:

A declaration for an efficient merchant marine, with sale to American citizens, for operation under the American flag, of all merchant vessels acquired by the government during the war.

Condemnation of the Republican congress for "vain and extravagant investigations, costing two millions of dollars, revealing nothing beyond the incapacity of Republican politicians to cope with the gravest problems."

A declaration that neither labor nor capital should at any time "take action that will jeopardize the public welfare," and that strikes and lock-outs should be supplanted by some method of amicable settlement.

Administration Is Commended.

Commendation of the administration for establishing the Federal Reserve system, the Farm Loan system, "just tariff legislation," an income tax, and a department of labor.

Criticism of congress for having failed to heed the President's recommendation for revision of tax laws, and for having failed to repeal "war legislation which harnesses business."

Approval of the "utmost generosity" for disabled soldiers and their dependents, but a disapproval of stimulated efforts to fasten further oppressive burdens upon the taxpayers of the country by enormous bond issues or consumption and retroactive tax levies to give an indiscriminate bonus to enlisted men.

Praise of President Wilson, to whose efforts the platform says "should chiefly be ascribed the adoption by congress of the woman suffrage amendment."

President's Letter to Senator Glass.

The President's letter follows:

The White House, May 28, 1920.

My Dear Senator Glass:

Thank you for sending me the copy of the platform recently adopted by the Democrats of Virginia. Aside from the purely personal references, which of course I deeply appreciate, let me say to you, my dear senator, that the sentiments expressed in this notable document are in full accord with my own views, especially the statements which set forth the attitude of the party on the league of nations and the pressing problems of peace, finance and reconstruction. These are the clear cut, unequivocal principles of patriotic men who know how to serve their country and mankind.

Surely this platform rectifies a record of achievement which gives all Americans a just cause for pride and congratulation.

Cordially and sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON.

PROSECUTION IN ODELL MURDER TRIAL CLOSES

Rochester, May 28.—Two statements made by Pearl Beaver Odell on the night after Edward J. Kneip was killed were read today to the jury in supreme court which is to determine her guilt or innocence of complicity in the killing of Kneip on the night of January 7. In the first statement, Mrs. Odell denied knowing Kneip—or that she had been out of her home on the night Kneip was killed, except to go to a drug store. In the second, she admitted accompanying her husband and Kneip to the Mosquito Point road, helping her husband attack Kneip, and hid: the body under a railroad culvert nearby.

The admission of the confession closed the prosecution's case. The defense will open next Tuesday.

Relatives of Mrs. Odell and her husband, James Louis Odell, now under sentence of death for the crime, clashed after the session of court. Each claimed that the other side was trying to shift the blame—or the crime—to the defendant relative of the opposite party. The discrepancy in the confession made by Mrs. Odell after her arrest on the night of the murder and accepted as evidence today and the testimony of the condemned husband caused the clash. On the stand at his own trial, Odell claimed to have been choked into unconsciousness by Kneip and to have found him dead when he recovered. Mrs. Odell in her confession told only of pulling Kneip off Odell when he was choking him, and of kicking him in the stomach. Her attorney had prevented her from describing the battle at the scene of the murder.

HOUSE WILL TAKE UP BONUS BILL TODAY

Opponents Prepare to Make Bitter Fight, But Concede They Will Be Defeated

Washington, May 28.—After weeks of committee hearings, caucuses and negotiations, the soldier bonus bill will be taken up tomorrow by the house. Its opponents were prepared tonight to make a bitter fight to delay action on the bill or to prevent its passage, but conceded they would be defeated.

As a forerunner of tomorrow's fight, Representative Murphy, Republican of Ohio, today conducted a filibuster against transaction of any business, but finally stopped on assurance from house leaders that the soldier bill would be on the floor tomorrow. Mr. Murphy's announced purpose was to force immediate action on the soldier measure, and he took advantage of every opportunity today to try to force his way. Even the chaplain's prayer was delayed for half an hour by the filibuster.

Chairman Campbell, of the rules committee, announced tonight that he would open tomorrow's session of the house by presenting a resolution suspending all house rules for the next six days. He said he expected the soldier measure to be called up as soon as his resolution was adopted.

The suspension program will require a two-thirds vote to pass the bonus bill.

RAILROADS CLOSE THEIR CASE FOR INCREASED FREIGHT RATES

Washington, May 28.—Railroads of the country today closed their case before the Interstate Commerce commission for increased freight rates aggregating $1,617,000,000 annually. Further hearings were suspended by the commission until June 7 to give shippers and state railway commissioners time to prepare for cross-examination of witnesses for the carriers.

During the hearings, which began Monday, testimony was introduced by the railroads to show that increased income is needed immediately if the roads are to satisfactorily handle the nation's commerce, for otherwise government ownership is inevitable. Relief only can come in the form of increased rates, or out of the treasury of the United States, the carriers claimed. Only the roads that are strongest financially can borrow money, it was stated, and then only at high rates of interest.

SENATE INVESTIGATION OF NAVY IS COMPLETED

Chairman Hopes to Have Report in Week—Admirals Defend Sims' Policies

Washington, May 28.—The senate investigation of the navy's conduct of the war was completed today and Chairman Hale said he hoped to have ready within a week a report embodying the committee's findings.

Rear Admiral Sims was the only witness today, but the chairman read into the record supplementary statements from Rear Admirals Fullam and Fiske, replying to portions of the testimony of Secretary Daniels. Admiral Fiske declared that but for his efforts the war would have entered the war without the two principal agencies the Secretary and his advisors declared to be vital—the office of chief of naval operations and the administrative plan.

Admiral Fullam denied statements by Mr. Daniels to the effect that he was a "disciple of von Tirpitz" and "wished to Prussianize the navy." He declared that he had devoted his life to the problem of organization and preparedness, and that he was "proud to have my name linked with the names of Sims and Fiske."

Admiral Sims told the committee that Secretary Daniels had attempted to "gloss over" the criticisms of the department's conduct of the war, and reiterated his charge that Mr. Daniels failed to direct the action required both before and during the war to meet the urgency of the situation.

TREATY IS "RAG OF INIQUITY"

Former Hungarian Premier's Denunciation of Pact Creates Scene in Parliament

Budapest, May 27.—Former Premier Stephen Friedrich was compelled to cut short his speech in denunciation of the peace treaty at yesterday's session of the parliament, when his vehement remarks created a scene. Today he renewed the attack, saying:

"The sun of the Allies is setting. There is a new factor with which they must reckon. It is the indignation created by humiliated nations. The world war is still going on. There has been no demobilization, and all the defeated nations should reunite."

Friedrich referred to the defiance of the Allies by the Bolsheviks and the Turks. He called the League of Nations "another huge bluff."

"The role of the Allies is comic," he added. "Why, they even invited Bela Kun (the exiled former Communist director) to the peace conference."

Count Opponyi said the treaty was "a rag of iniquity."

COMMITTEE READY TO REPORT ON MEXICO

Has Been Conducting Investigation For Past Six Months—Villa Hunt Continues

Washington, May 28.—The senate sub-committee, which has been investigating conditions in Mexico for six months, today notified Chairman Lodge, of the foreign relations committee, that it was ready to report.

Practically all the testimony taken by the sub-committee dealt with conditions prior to the overthrow of the Carranza government, but it is known the committee regards the new government in Mexico in such light as not to alter materially the character of its findings. It is understood the sub-committee, among other recommendations, will urge extreme caution in according full diplomatic recognition to the revolutionary government, and will insist upon a thorough understanding by the two governments of the obligations Mexico must assume if either the moral or the material support of the United States is to be given.

Dispatches received here today said Villa again was being hunted by the Mexican troops. Revolutionary agents who have come to Washington have asserted the pursuit: this time will be much more earnestly conducted than under Carranza.

Gonzales to Retire.

Mexico City, May 28.—General Pablo Gonzalez announced today that he would retire to private life at Monterey. For three weeks he was in virtual personal control of the administration of national affairs, subsequent to the evacuation of Mexico City by Carranza.

FARMERS DEMAND FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

Washington, May 28.—Government ownership of railroads and merchant marine was demanded today by the Farmers' National Council in a letter addressed by George P. Hampton, director of the council, to the Democratic and Republican national committees.

Hampton urged that a plank calling for such government ownership be incorporated in the platform of both major parties. Other planks he asked and which he said the farmers wanted were:

Legislation to control the packers.

Taxes on lands and other national resources held for speculation to pay off war debts.

Adequate and cheap credit for farmers and protection of farmers co-operative societies from anti-trust laws.

FUSION CAMPAIGN TROUBLES

New York, May 28.—Supreme Court Justice Tierney today referred back to Justice Lydon for decision a motion of counsel William T. Childs, indicted for perjury in connection with the Fusion majority campaign fund of 1917, to vacate Justice Lydon's order transferring trial from the indictment by the criminal term of the supreme court to the general sessions court.

Another motion for an inspection of the minutes of the grand jury, on which were indicted Childs, former Governor William Sulzer, and former State Senator Josiah P. Newcomb, will not be passed until after determination of the motion to vacate the order of removal.

U. S. TRADE BALANCE AGAINST EUROPE GREATLY INCREASED

Washington, May 28.—Although the value of exports to Europe fell off $100,000,000 in April, the nation's trade balance against the old world was increased $254,000,000. The total value of exports, the department of commerce announced today, was $355,990,000 as compared with imports of $111,030,000.

Asia and South America, however, continued to pile up a favorable balance against the United States. Imports from Asia of $122,990,000 exceeded exports by $55,000,000. Exports of $75,990,000 from South America exceeded exports by $26,000,000.

Exports to Germany, showing the only increase of the European countries, advanced to $23,990,000 from $20,000,000 in March.

RIGOROUS TERMS OF PEACE ARE IMPOSED ON TURKS

Washington, May 28.—Terms of peace imposed upon the Turks more rigorous than any previous summaries have indicated, were revealed to the Greek Chamber of Deputies last week in Athens by Premier Venizelos, a summary of whose address was received today by the state department.

"The Turkish treaty," according to Venizelos, "accords to Turkey only local autonomy, which may in due time, and should the people determine, be converted into independence."

In the small southeastern area of Europe, in which Turkey is left a last foothold, Venizelos declared, her forces are limited by the treaty to 100,000 men.

Constantinople is retained by the Sultan.

EFFORT TO ESTABLISH PEACE AGAIN IS ENDED

Lacking 29 Votes of Necessary Two-Thirds, House Fails to Pass Vetoed Knox Resolution

Washington, May 28.—Lacking 29 votes of the necessary two-thirds, the house failed today to pass the Knox resolution, ending the war with Germany and Austria, over President Wilson's veto.

The result was not unexpected. The vote was 229 to 152. Seventeen Democrats joined with Republicans in attempting to override the veto, while two Republicans voted with the Democrats to sustain it. Before starting the fight on the floor, Republican leaders predicted that the veto would stand by a margin of ten, but nevertheless announced their determination to make the fight just the same and let the record go before the people.

Proceeding final action, which again ended efforts to establish peace, there was an hour of debate, in which the President's position was assailed by Republicans and defended by Democrats. Attacking the Republican leadership of congress, Representative Connolly, Democrat of Texas, challenged the party in control to present a straight-out resolution for repeal of all war-time legislation, and promised Democratic support in an effort to pass it in the event of a Presidential veto.

SENATE COMMITTEE O. K.'S EXPORT EMBARGO ON SUGAR

Washington, May 28.—By a vote of 4 to 3 the senate agriculture committee today ordered a favorable report on the McNary bill providing for an export embargo on sugar.

Before taking final action the committee amended the measure so that it would effect sugar sent to the United States by foreign countries or their nationals to be refined. Early senate consideration of the bill is planned by Senator McNary.

HOLIDAY HAS EFFECT ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Dealings Fall to Nominal Proportions; Tone Firm to Strong From the Outset

New York, May 28. — The approaching holiday had a perceptible effect on the volume of business in stock market today, dealings falling to nominal proportions. The tone was firm to strong almost from the outset, however, especially in seasoned industries and rails.

Shorts were disposed at times to exert fresh pressure against speculative issues, basing their tentative operations upon hopes of tighter money, but when this condition failed to develop, hearty covering ensued. Call loans once more held at what has practically become the fixed rate, six percent, and many large borrowings at that quotation running into next Tuesday were reported. Further slight relaxation of time money was observed, but this was almost wholly restricted to 30 day maturities.

Rails were far more active than usual, considering the small turnover, buying of that division embracing almost a score of the popular high and low grade issues. Accompanying this movement was a steady demand for various railroad bonds at gains of 1 to 2 points.

Otherwise the movement continued to concentrate in steel, affiliated equipment, oils and motors and their subsidiaries, with a sprinkling of ship-pings, leathers and food specialties. Sugars were an exception, falling back toward the close on reports of a cut in the raw products.

A sharp reaction in marks, which canceled the greater part of the recent gain, was the noteworthy feature of the foreign exchange market. Among international bankers, the Japanese financial situation evoked much discussion and conjecture.

Liberty bonds and Victory notes were irregular. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

MODERN STAMFORD HOTEL.

Brilliant Lighting System Installed at Church Hill Hall.

Stamford, May 28. — Electricians have been busy for the past few weeks installing a large number of electric lights on the front of Church Hill hall. The verandas will be beautifully illuminated and a set of outward lights will be installed on the grounds; the large number of trees which have been all cut away giving a fine outlook from the main veranda and materially improving the looks of the grounds.

With the improvements made and under way, the hall will rank as one of the finest hotels in the mountain section.

College Rentals Continue.

A large number of cottages have been leased for the summer by city parties and among the latest ones are those of Eugene Goren and E. C. Hanford on West End avenue. Some of the cottagers who own their own places here have already arrived and are getting ready to open their houses.

Load of Electrical Appliances.

Ralph Jones, accompanied by Charles Mattice, made the trip to Lynn, Mass., this week, where they went to get a truckload of transformers for the new electric line to be installed by the West Branch Light and Power company, which is to take its current from the supply of the Nawa Construction company operating at and near Gilboa. On the completion of this connection Stamford will have a 24-hour light and power service.

Important Village Meeting.

Pursuant to a notice given out by the board of trustees of Stamford village, an election will be held on the afternoon of June 2 to determine whether the village shall issue bonds for the amount of $15,000 to construct a permanent stone highway from the end of the present state highway on Main street to the entrance of Church Hill park and from the intersection of Lake and Main streets through Lake street to the corporation line.

Not much opposition to the plan has seemed to develop and it is hoped that the measure will be carried with an easily an unanimous vote as was the case in widening and curbing the state highway through the village. Polls will be open at 1 o'clock and remain open until 5.

COLONER HOLDS INQUEST.

Further Developments Expected in Case of Dead Infant's Body.

Delhi, May 28. — An inquest was held in the village hall at Stamford on Thursday afternoon with reference to the finding of a body of a child on Wednesday.

William Russell in "Slam-Bang Jim"

TODAY William Russell IN "Slam Bang Jim"

We have been promising you a real big picture and here it is. Come early for that good seat.

The sensational attraction, "Slam-Bang Jim," is an adaption of "Snap Judgment," the snappiest, peppiest, fastest comedy-drama ever penned. The story fairly sizzles.

Action speeded up until audiences are swept off their feet with enthusiasm. Comedy—thrills—action—romance mingled in a wonderful fashion. Story begins in an Eastern millionaire's home. Shifts to the West and the wide, open spaces. Lots of sensational "long shots" of remarkable mountain scenery.

Those vistas down deep canyons will thrill any audience in any state in the union. A corking cast. In it are Francelia Billington, George Periolat, Harvey Clark, Adda Gleason and a host of other favorites.

EVERY MAN'S FIRST DUTY.

Whoever has read the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post must have noted the article which therein appears regarding the foodstuff situation and the farmer, and particularly the assertion that the farmer everywhere is doing his full duty. He is not laying down on the job; he is not profiteering; he is as fully awake as anybody can be to the serious situation confronting the country, and with his best endeavors he is working from early morning to dusk of night in order to produce an abundant harvest as is possible. But, for all his efforts, he is confronted more than anybody else with the labor proposition. No matter what he pays, or offers to pay, his help is leaving him, attracted by the delights of city or village life and the shorter hours; and there are none coming from city to country to take their place. The drift began years ago, and it is as steady now as ever—a continuous drain upon the country which shows no sign of abating. In general, therefore, the farmer can raise only what he is able with his own hands to produce.

Under such conditions, the man within the city must realize that a real crisis is confronting him, and that it is not merely as to how much he must pay for the bare necessities of life in way of foodstuffs, but whether he can get them at all, at any price. It really does not much matter how much money he has; on a desert island tons of gold would not pay the shipwrecked mariner for a single banana or a drink of fresh water. It really is whether the necessary foodstuffs can be had for any price—can in fact be had at all.

This condition is one which confronts every municipality in the country, and among them Oneonta, which, however, unlike the larger cities, has power measurably to protect itself against the impending peril. Situated as it is in the midst of an agricultural region, and in large measure with back yards and vacant lots available within the city itself for gardens, there is no reason why any citizen should not at once take stock of home possibilities and prepare for garden work. No back yard available for the purpose should be left until the summer, and if there is no such available land, then one should be secured, conveniently located if possible, but if not, at least secured, by every citizen who can find the time, and practically every one can, somewhere in city or vicinity.

There are a few things which Oneontans should bear in mind. One is that every bit of garden produce which can be raised this year will be needed. A second is that ability to buy does not discharge any one at this time from the big obligation. A third, that no one can excuse himself on the plea that the season is too late, since in fact it is plenty early enough to plant anything which will grow in this climate. Another, that whoever plants does it—and he should not by any means forget this fact—not from selfish interest but in the cause of humanity.

The situation in war times was bad enough as regards foodstuffs, but it was not as bad as now. The only way to make things better is to raise more and better crops. And it is an obligation which rests on everybody. Have you plowed your garden?

Equalizing Trolley Fares.

A dispatch from the State Public Service commission, second district, states that, beginning June 22, the fares between Oneonta and all stations and stops outside the city, will be increased two cents one way and four cents for the round trip.

This increase is for the purpose of equalizing rates as to passengers inside and outside of the city limits. Since the first of the present month, the fare on the so-called city lines has been seven cents. Formerly it was five cents and purchasers of tickets had five cents added to the cost of the ticket, which was otherwise figured from the end of the city fare zone. The new change will merely add the two cents now received of city line passengers to the rate charged outside.

Also on June 22, and thereafter, four-trip trip tickets will be issued between Richfield Springs and Walnut Grove at Canadara park at 25 cents each.

One Uniform Immune In Moonshine Hills

But—"Move Slow" is mountaineer's warning to Salvation Army man who tests it out on the trails of West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee mountains.

A UNIFORM has been found that can be worn through the moonshine regions of West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee without becoming a target for a fusillade of bullets from hidden moonshiners. It is the uniform of the Salvation Army.

Reports of a successful test of its immunity have just reached the Salvation Army headquarters in New York City. The test was made by Captain J. Henderson of the Nashville, Tenn., Salvation Army Corps, who recently made an extended trip through the "no man's land" of the mountains.

A grizzled mountaineer hailed the captain on a lonely trail in the hills. "What's that uniform, young feller?" he inquired.

"It's the uniform of the Salvation Army," the captain explained. "I've heard of your army," commented the mountaineer as he eased down the hammer of his rifle, and turned to start down the trail. "But, sonny," he flung over his shoulder, "you-all'd better move slow in these parts so we can get a look at you, afore someone shoots first and asks questions afterwards."

Captain Henderson continued his trip through the moonshine district without being molested, but he followed the mountaineer's advice and moved slow.

The Salvation Army uniform is braving danger in the slums of the cities as well as in the moonshine hills, and goes wherever human beings are in need. And that it may continue to stand for service to humanity wherever it is seen, the Army is appealing to the American people, between May 10 and 20, for a Home Service fund of $10,000,000, to carry on all phases of its work for the ensuing year.

LOCAL MENTION.

—Both banks of the city will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial day, a legal holiday.

—Cooperstown, Sidney, Stamford and Worcester bus lines begin running on new time Monday morning.

—The post office will be open Monday, Memorial day, until 10 a. m., and city carriers will make the usual forenoon deliveries.

—Monday being observed as Memorial day, no Star will be issued from this office Monday morning, enabling attaches to have a week-end vacation from their labors.

—Motorists are advised by an Oneonta gentleman, recently returned from Albany, to avoid the Altamont route into that city, saying that the road from there is in poor condition for travel.

—All persons having flowers they will contribute to the decoration of graves of veterans on Memorial day will please leave them at the Wilber National Bank building between 8 and 9 o'clock Monday morning.

—Miss Nina V. Short, local secretary of the Otsego County Tuberculosis association, will attend by invitation the special state tuberculosis conference to be held in New York commencing next week. Miss Short leaves Monday for the metropolis.

—Two local men were arrested on the carnival grounds last night, charged with public intoxication. They were placed in the city jail for the night and will be arraigned this morning. One man had $145 on his person, indicating that he evidently had started out for "a hot time in the old town tonight," but he spent most of the night "cooling off."

—The American legion extends a cordial invitation to the public to be present at the ceremonies to be conducted in the state armory Sunday afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, when certificates issued by the French government will be presented to the next-of-kin of deceased Otsego county soldiers and sailors. Hon. George L. Boeckes will deliver the memorial address.

—F. P. McCloskey and John J. Brophy of this city will attend the annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus, which opens Tuesday in Glens Falls. The convention will last two days and elaborate preparations have been made by the Glens Falls council to make the convention this year one of the biggest in the history of the state council. More than 500 delegates will attend. Messrs. McCloskey and Brophy will attend the convention as delegates from Otsego county council, K. of C.

Meetings Today.

The Junior Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 in the church. The children of the congregation are urged to attend. Do not forget the flowers for the hospital.

Members of Burroughs club will meet in the pines in Wilber park this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Each member bring supper.

Meetings Sunday.

Veteran Firemen will meet at the Municipal building Sunday at 8 a. m. to decorate the graves of deceased members, also Monday at 11 a. m. in citizens' dress with cap, white gloves and cane to assist the Grand army.

The American legion have invited the members of the G. A. R. to attend their memorial services to be held in the state armory Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All members of G. A. R. are requested to meet at the post headquarters at 2 p. m. It is hoped that all who possibly can will attend.

Meeting Monday.

Special communication of Oneonta lodge, No. 456, F. and A. M., held Monday evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of conferring the degree of Entered Apprentice.

Spanish War Veterans.

All Spanish war veterans, whether members of the local camp or not, are cordially invited to meet at the armory Monday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, to participate in the Memorial day exercises. R. H. Westcott, commander.

A BETTER DAY DAWNING

DECLARED SENATOR DAVENPORT IN DISCUSSING A CURE FOR RADICALISM.

When Men of Ideas and Power to Organize Them Will Appreciate the Obligation to Advance the Common Good and Not Strive for Selfish Ends—Large Attendance at Men's Club Dinner.

"A Remedy for Impetuous Radicalism" was discussed in a very frank and intelligent manner by State Senator Frederick M. Davenport of the Oneida district, who has frequently been mentioned as a most available man for the Republican nomination for governor, at the final dinner of the season of the Men's club of the First Methodist church, at the church parlors last evening, about 150 men of the church and city giving the eloquent speaker close attention. The speaker declared that the solution of the problem is within the reach of men in command of big industry today, and that if they awake to a realizing sense of their opportunity in time and eliminating their narrow, selfish desires, act for the welfare of society as a whole, continued advance and increased prosperity await us; if otherwise, turbulent times are ahead, the outcome of which no man can foresee. The address evidenced keen insight and close study of history, and his suggestions are worthy of the sober thought of all citizens.

After a flattering introduction by Dr. Johns, in which the latter declared that Senator Davenport was his inspiration for a college education, the speaker disclaimed any inclination to oratory or eloquence, declaring that the times are too tense for such, but the rather we should study the developments of the hour and apply our best thought to the solution of the world's problems.

As a result of the death grapple with the enemies of freedom and truth, right triumphing only after a prolonged struggle, there has developed a situation which demands serious concern. An impetuous radicalism has permeated Russia, unbalanced certain other sections of Europe, and is manifest in America. It would accord no recognition to leaders of thought and industry, but accepts the massed mind of the throng. Massed mind can get us nowhere unless we have men and women of ability and deep patriotism. Certain ideas are associated with this impetuous radicalism, such as decreased capacity for production, the breaking of working agreements, and the police strike in Boston, which are disquieting.

Then too, we are hearing men advocate the general strike by a minority of workers to enforce some idea of government that cannot be presented in a convincing manner and win popular support on its merits. These have led to what the speaker styled a hysteria for heresy hunting, a spirit growing out of the psychology of war. He derided the extent to which the drag-nets of both state and federal powers have been used, and the attempt to enact too drastic laws which typify the extent to which other nations have gone in the opposite direction. We have attempted by governmental power and legislation to control the mind and heart of the susceptible to the teachings of improper leaders. We need to inculcate the principles of true freedom in the minds of all.

After availing that we are sadly lacking in great leaders today, the speaker jumped into the very heart of his fundamental idea by declaring that if we can settle our industrial problems, adjust in some way the differences between capital and labor, we will have gone a long way to a peaceful settlement of all radicalism. The remedy is in the hands of industry itself. We need men of ideas and with power to organize those ideas, but these men must be awake to their duty to society and to the government and will recognize that their talents should be used for the betterment of mankind and for the advancement of the common good and not for mere selfish ends. There should be autocracy in industry. In this way we can eliminate the ill will now found.

In closing, the speaker recited at some length the success attending the practical workings of this idea of the Golden Rule in industry at the Endicott-Johnson shoe factories near Binghamton. If the leaders of industry do not awake to the true conditions and sacrifice their old time ideas of private exploitation for selfish ends, substituting therefor the welfare and advancement of humanity as a whole, then the doom of America is sealed. There are signs, said the speaker in a final word, that "A Better Day is Dawning."

What Is It?

Everybody ought to know, but many don't know and they would be better off if they did know. Listen! It receives small amounts from the many, which make large amounts and is safely invested in first mortgages on improved real estate, the safest security known and with its safe, economical and advantageous system of compound interest, earns more for little fellows than big fellows can get with same safety. It's a snap for little fellows, and 3,000 of them in Oneonta can tell you how it has rolled up to several million dollars for them without the loss of a dollar left with it. It has three ways, adapted to all needs, for placing small or large amounts and the great mass of busy people who do not understand how to place money safely, would do well to find out about it. It is the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. advt 11

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Elects President and Directors at Annual Meeting

Interesting and Comprehensive Reports of Officers and Secretary—What the Chamber Has Done for the Community—The Outlook for the Future—Meeting Unanimously Approves Increase of Railway Freight Rates to Meet Universal Conditions—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year Are H. W. Lee, President and Messrs. B. C. Lauren, W. F. Eggleston, A. C. Merritt, R. C. Briggs and H. W. Lee, Directors.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which was held last evening in the Municipal hall, was preceded by a canvass and announcement of votes cast at the primary election, in which members of the chamber expressed by mail their choice of candidates. In all about one-half of the members had sent in their ballots, and there were 17 members who received the required number of votes to make them eligible for election as directors.

Dr. A. W. Cutler, who received the largest number of votes in the primary for president, announced that, while he thanked the chamber for the endorsement of his work shown by the vote, it would be impossible, on account of personal duties, to devote the needed time to the work. He therefore declined re-election and asked that another selection be made for president of the chamber. Harry W. Lee was then nominated for the office, and the secretary was directed to cast one ballot for him.

The vote for directors for three years was then taken, and Messrs. B. C. Lauren, W. F. Eggleston, A. C. Merritt, R. C. Briggs and H. W. Lee were duly elected.

The result of the election having been announced, the reports of President Cutler, Secretary Walter and Treasurer Lauren were read and accepted.

The President's Report.

The report of President A. W. Cutler very fully sets forth the activities of the year. In the introduction the President very properly characterized the association as one which translates ideals into accomplishments, concentrates effort, organizes co-operation, plans for the future and is a committee of the whole for the welfare of the community. Fully to accomplish its work, the burden must not be shifted to the shoulders of the directors, merely; but every member must put his shoulder to the wheel and do his part of the work. When a man assumes the responsibility of citizenship, he should be willing to work, fight and sacrifice for his town.

Under suitable heads, Dr. Cutler mentioned some of the activities of the chamber. As regards civic improvements, he noted the Salvation army drive, survey of housing conditions, and build-and-own campaign, the Fourth of July celebration, successful fight for retention of Normal trolley service, community dances, entertainment of State Building and Loan convention, work for summer Chautauqua, promotion of treasury certificate campaign, establishment of employment agency, survey of foreign-born population, additional train mail service, movement to continue present union railway station service, to provide for the future.

NO WORK IN FIVE YEARS.

Able Bodied Young Man Applies at Hospital for Treatment.

One of the exasperating experiences encountered now and then is an able bodied young man who apparently has no inclination to work and thinks society owes him a living without it. Thursday morning one of this type appeared at the Fox hospital and asked for medical treatment, complaining that his stomach was "rot." Investigation revealed no alarming symptoms and when he failed to give a good account of himself he was turned over to the police department. At headquarters he admitted that he left his home in Greenwich five years ago when he was 18 years of age, and since then boasted that he had held a job only three months of the time, separate months and widely separated intervals. He appeared well and vigorous, aside from the dirt upon his person and clothes, the former rendering it difficult to determine whether he was black or white. He was given 30 minutes in which to leave the city, and he made good within the time limit.

CARNIVAL CLOSES TONIGHT.

Lloyd Williams to Meet Birdson Greene in Final Wrestling Match. With favorable weather continuing, record crowds are expected at the Carnival of the Firemen and City band today and tonight, the last day of the big carnival. The attractions are all in full blast and the show is pronounced the best of any carnival ever in the city.

The sporting fraternity are much interested in the wrestling match scheduled for tonight at the Athletic arena, when Lloyd Williams will meet Birdson Greene, the wrestler with the show, who has met all comers and won. Williams in previous encounters having staid with him well. There are enthusiasts in the city who insist that Williams can throw him, and the final effort will be made this evening.

FRANCES STARR IS MARRIED

Famous Actress Who Spent Girlhood Days in Oneonta Becomes Bride of Haskell Coffin, Artist.

New York's dailies yesterday carried announcements of the marriage of Frances Starr, the well-known actress, to W. Haskell Coffin, an artist of Garden City, Long Island. The bride is a native of Oneonta county and spent her girlhood days in Oneonta.

The ceremony was performed at the Church of the Heavenly Rest Thursday afternoon, with Rev. Dr. Herbert Shipman officiating. Immediately afterward, Mr. and Mrs. Coffin left for a honeymoon tour of the Berkshires.

The bride announced that she intended to continue her professional work, and that she would return to New York on June 7 to start rehearsal of a new Belasco production. She said she had been engaged since December.

Miss Starr was born in Schenectady 22 years ago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Starr. A few years later, the family moved to Oneonta, where they remained for several years. Frances made her first stage appearance in a stock company at the Lehigh theatre in Albany in 1901. She was discovered by David Belasco a few years later and has since been started in several of his most successful productions, including "The Rose of the Rancho" and "The Easiest Way." Her latest vehicle was "Tiger" Tiger.

Mr. Coffin, who is 42 years old and a widower, is a magazine cover designer and illustrator and has made a success in his profession, several of the best-known magazine illustrations of the day bearing his signature.

Card of Thanks.

To all our friends, especially to the members of the Odd Fellows' lodge at Davenport, to the employees of the coach shop of the D. & H., to the associates of Mr. O'Dell on the police force and the neighbors and friends for innumerable kindnesses and sympathy shown us during our recent severe affliction, we wish to return our most heartfelt thanks. It is impossible to see and thank personally all the kind friends, much as we would like to do so. We shall always cherish the memory of the kindness shown us.

Obsequies of Miss Firman.

The funeral of the late Miss May Firman was held from the Main Street Baptist church Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, with a large attendance of friends, including her associate members in the Sunday School class of Mrs. Huntington in a body, also the Christian Endeavor society and the deaconesses of the church. Rev. Dr. Pendleton officiated and he paid a fine tribute to the life and character of the deceased. The bearers were Roscoe C. Briggs, Claude Champlin, Frank C. Huntington, W. S. Deuser, Edward Burr and I. J. Bookhout. There were numerous floral tributes. In addition to the two brothers, S. G. and A. E. Firman of Glen Ridge, N. J., and New York, respectively, there were relatives and friends present from Burlington. Interment was in Glenwood cemetery.

Company G Needs Recruits.

Owing to removals and recent expirations of terms of enlistment, the membership of Company G has been much reduced and it is desired that a considerable number of recruits be enlisted. The summer vacation commences June 1st, after which no drills will be held until fall, but recruiting will be continued so that in the fall the ranks may again be full.

The many advantages of membership and privileges of the army is a splendid inducement. Rifle practice and the training received are a benefit to any young man.

Young men of good character, and only those, are invited to call at the armory and ask for particulars. Officers of the company will be present every Wednesday evening to enlist recruits and give information relative to the small amount of service required and the many benefits and pleasures to be derived.

Judge Arnold's Funeral Sunday.

WELL-KNOWN D. & H. MECHANIST

George H. Talmadge Passes Away at His Home on South Side.

George H. Talmadge, for many years a well-known machinist at the D. & H. round house, died yesterday afternoon at 1:39 o'clock at his home on South Side, after less than a week's illness of peritonitis. He was taken suddenly ill last Sunday and despite efforts of physicians failed rapidly until the end came. Funeral services will be held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, new time. Rev. Norman S. Burd, pastor of the West End Baptist church, will officiate and burial will be at the Plains cemetery.

Mr. Talmadge was born in Danville, town of Stamford, Broome county, on July 29, 1871, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Talmadge. He came to Oneonta 25 years ago, and had lived here ever since, being employed as a machinist on the D. & H. Friends say that he was an expert machinist and was popular among his fellow-workers. He was a member of the local machinists' union, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Free and Accepted Masons, Maccabees, and Loyal Order of Moose, and had a large circle of friends who will regret his passing.

Mr. Talmadge was twice married, his second wife being Mrs. Rose Stalker, who survives. Most of the time he lived in this city, but last fall, when he married Mrs. Stalker, they went to live in the F. O. Adams home on South Side, where Mr. Talmadge died. Besides his wife, Mr. Talmadge is survived by his aged father, who lives on a farm near Otego, by one son, Ford B. Talmadge, who lives at home, and by one brother, John B. Talmadge, a D. & H. foreman residing on South Side, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Deviney of Johnson City.

Early in life, Mr. Talmadge joined the Methodist church at Danville and was a man of upright character and integrity. He had a wide acquaintance among D. & H. men and others in Oneonta and general regret will be expressed on news of his death.

CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR GRADUATION.

On the road to success and good fortune.

You've made such a wonderful start. May the future fulfill its bright promise. Is a wish that goes straight from my heart.

The above sentiment is one of many found in our beautiful line of Graduation Cards suitable for Graduation time, from 5c to 25c.

A Book as a Graduation Gift is Just Right.

What more appropriate gift could you hard to a graduate than a worthy book—for a book rightly chosen is a life companion and a constant reminder of the donor.

There's a book for everyone—for the booklover pure and simple—for every trade and profession; for every sport or hobby.

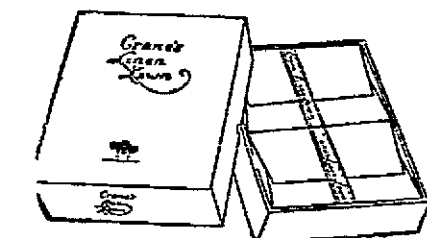

We cannot think of any better books to place in the hands of our young men and women who will have to face the perils of false philosophy and of certain forms of tyranny which have been born and bred amongst us than books on Abraham Lincoln—Democracy's greatest son. It is important to these United States that her young men and women should know the spirit of Lincoln and have an abiding faith in his wisdom and sense of justice.

We can show you numerous books on Lincoln—"A Man for the Ages" by Irving Bachelor, for instance, is a delightful account of Lincoln's times and his early manhood told in a romance which will not only delight and entertain but give one a better understanding of the real Lincoln. The price is $1.75.

Other books in Biography—Standard works of authors that will live for ever—Standard works of poetry by our great poets—Live books of the day or current fiction all too numerous to mention in this space but all suitable to give to the graduate. If you have in mind a present to give to some one on this event we invite a visit or if you cannot call in person correspondence will receive prompt and good attention.

If not books—we would suggest Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pens—a real necessity to most everybody nowadays, especially so to the student. Price $2.65 and upwards.

Keweenaw Pencils—$1.00 and up. Kodaks and Brownie Cameras $2.50 and up. Eaton-Grange's Fine Writing Papers in white and tints—attractive boxes, sixty cents and up.

USE GEOPHONE IN MINE WORK

Listening Device Invented During the War Found Valuable in Industries.

LOCATES ENTOMBED MINERS

Greatest Value in Mining Will Be in Connection With Rescue Work—Can Detect Human Voice 150 Feet Away.

Washington—After a series of important tests with the geophone, a listening device invented during the war by the French, to detect and locate enemy underground operations, the bureau of mines, department of the interior, announces that this delicate instrument may be put to a number of remarkable uses in mining and other industries.

The most extraordinary result of these tests is that the bureau of mines men have been able, not only to hear and locate sounds through the earth, but have actually understood talking through 50 feet of solid coal and have detected the human voice fully 150 feet away. What this may mean in the near future can only be conjectured. An engineer of the bureau was able through 300 feet of coal to distinguish nine out of ten different coal mining tools that were used at different times, so characteristic are the sounds. In one mine where experiments were being made at the face of a tunnel, the mine foreman who was listening heard workmen in another tunnel preparing to blast and ordered the engineers to retire until the blast was fired. The sounds were so clear he did not realize that the tunnel headings were over 300 feet apart.

Value in Mining.
The greatest value of the geophone in mining, so far as known, will be in connection with rescue work in mines. Quite frequently miners are entombed in coal mines following explosions, and these men may be located quickly and accurately through the geophone. In metal mines also where men may be imprisoned behind falls or be barricaded in some part of the mine to which they have retreated in order to protect themselves from the fumes of a fire—these too may be rescued through prompt location.

When the bureau first began its experiments with the geophone, it was questionable whether the geophone could hear sounds far enough away to make it practicable. The experiments show that sounds can be detected through the earth a distance of 1500 feet in a mined-out area in a coal mine, through solid coal, 2,000 feet.

The geophone is also of great practical value in metal mines where two tunnels have to be connected. At times in spite of as correct surveying as is possible the two tunnel headings fail to come together. Just recently bureau of mines engineers were in a mine where the two ends of the tunnel failed to meet, and the geophones, locating the error, showed the miners the right direction.

Locates Fire in Mine.
Observations with the geophone have also been made at mines which were on fire, where it was found that the fire made noise enough to be heard some distance, either because of its drawing air or the breaking off of bits of coal and slate. The geophones by thus locating the fire give information which may enable the mine management to erect fire stopping in the proper places or to make a direct attack on the fire as for example by drilling holes for injecting water to the seat of the fire.

It is also the custom in some mining localities to drill a hole from the surface into a mine to carry pipe lines or cables. Oftentimes these drill holes do not go to the right places, and it is with considerable difficulty and expense that tunnels are driven to meet the drill hole. With the aid of the geophone, the drills can be guided better, especially since drilling can be detected for nearly a mile.

Very satisfactory results have been obtained in attempts made to locate leaks in water mains. The water circulating in the ordinary city main can be heard with the geophones when they are placed on the surface, ten to twelve feet above the pipe. In the business district of Pittsburgh one leak was located within a few minutes, although the water department had been trying to find it for two weeks.

THREE PRINCIPAL DIVISIONS

Due Consideration Must Be Given to Location to Reduce Cost of Maintenance.

The three principal divisions of actual road maintenance are location, construction and maintenance. In planning a road it is necessary that we take into consideration all three of these items, since proper location affects the cost of construction and may materially reduce cost of maintenance.

Timely Love.

Jack could tell the time for his mother by locating the nearest number. One day when he came back to his mother, his eyes were as blue as hers, as he said, "Why, mother, they're both at ten. They're loving each other!"

That Which Benefits Us.

That which benefits us, embosomed in beauty and wonder as we are, is cheerfulness and courage, and the endeavor to realize our aspirations, shall not the heart which has received so much, trust the power which it lives?—Emerson.

GIRLS ADOPT PET SCORPION

So Popular It May Become Mascot at Normal School in California.

Chico, Cal.—A scorpion, alive and in rigorous health, with its stinger unremoved, is not the sort of creature usually adopted as a pet, but girl students of the Chico State Normal school have adopted one, and its popularity is such that it may become the school's mascot.

The scorpion, not yet christened, was brought from southern California by Mrs. Bertie Chapman Cady, supervisor of biological science at the school, and is basking in the light of feminine admiration in a globular glass bowl. While intended primarily as a subject for study, the scorpion is rapidly becoming domesticated, proving, so Mrs. Cady asserts, that it is a docile disposition unless annoyed or attacked.

FORMER NURSE GETS FORTUNE

Married Senator Goff of West Virginia, Who Died Worth Many Millions.

Charlestown, W. Va.—Speculation is rife here as to what disposition is to be made by will of the estate of the late Judge Nathan Goff, former United States senator and former secretary of the navy. While no information has been divulged as to the testamentary disposition of the property, it is generally believed that it will be shared equally by the widow and the two sons.

The judge, who was the judge's second wife, and formerly Miss Catherine Ferguson, of the famous Carondeau, New York, and who has been his nurse, is expected to share in about one-third of the estate.

CHAS. F. HARTWELL

South Royalton, Vermont.
"About three years ago I began to suffer from indigestion. Food soured in my stomach, causing me to belch; and I had terrible heart burn, with pains in my chest and arms. My heart became affected; I had shortness of breath; the action of my kidneys was irregular, the secretions scanty and scalding.

I was knocked out, and good for nothing, when I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' and sent for a box. I used a few and thought, 'well, they will turn out like all the other remedies I have tried' but to my surprise and gladness, I noticed improvement and I continued the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) with the result that a dozen boxes made me feel like a different person."

Killed Himself to Avoid "Ruining Fiancee's Life"

Declaring in a note that he was not himself, that he was afraid his fiancée would be disappointed in him, and that he did not want to "ruin her life," Charles A. Campbell, resident of Birdseye, Ind., killed himself in his room at a hotel at Oklahoma City, Okla.

Campbell went to Oklahoma to meet Mary C. Holmes, a school teacher of Altus. They were to have been married the next day.

Miss Holmes arrived and went to the hotel where she was to meet Campbell. After waiting for some time and getting no answer to repeated calls to the room which he occupied, the hotel management investigated and found the dead body with a bullet wound in the head.

Wasn't Quite Ready for Ride.

As the farm where we stayed last summer was out of the beaten track of automobiles, Bobby was both curious and afraid of our car when we came there. At first nothing would induce him to take a ride in it. After one of our urgings to just sit in it, he drew his seven-year-old sister (who certainly was not afraid of the car) down to him and whispered in a most serious manner: "Tell those people when I get older and tamer I'll ride with them."

VETERAN TAKES FIRST DAY OFF IN 44 YEARS

After forty-four years of adventure with the life saving service, now the United States coast guard, Capt. Herbert M. Knowles, superintendent of the Third district, is enjoying his first days of freedom from responsibilities since he joined the service in 1876. He is at Wakefield, R. I., retired on a pension, with the record for continuous duty with the coast guard. There have been 1,300 records recorded in the Third district since Captain Knowles entered the service and the comparatively small loss of life is due to his alertness, daring and devotion, reports state. He enlisted as a surfman at the Point Judith, Long Island station, when twenty years old. In 1898 Secretary of the Treasury Gage, recognized his expert knowledge by putting him in command of a picked crew of life saving exhibit at the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition at Omaha. He has long been a member of the board of life saving appliances, which passes on new apparatus and he is largely responsible for the motorizing of the service. On Christmas eve, 1896, in a daring rescue off Point Judith, the storm forced him out to sea 11 miles, but he landed on Block Island. When he got back to Wakefield he was tolling a memorial service for him and his crew.

Children and Books.
It does the child no harm to make the acquaintance of books which were not written for children. In a home where the great books that have inspired or amused successive generations are accessible, an active-minded child is likely at some time or other to get at them. If we want our children to fall in love with the better kind of books, let us provide them with opportunities for meeting such books without too much formality.

CITY MEN BADLY NEEDED ON FARMS

Shortage of Hired Labor Threatens to Curtail Production of Food.

MEREDITH MAKES AN APPEAL

Increase of Wages From 15 to 25 Per cent Fails to Relieve Situation—Total Acreage Undoubtedly Will Be Reduced.

Washington.—With a shortage of hired farm labor, as acute as in 1918, threatening to curtail food production on American farms, E. T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, has issued an appeal to city men, college students and others to spend their vacations working on farms, particularly as helpers in harvest fields.

Reports secured by the federal department from its representatives in practically every state in the Union show that the supply of hired farm labor in this country is only about 72 per cent of the normal supply, compared with approximately 84 per cent of a normal supply a year ago. This year's shortage is almost exactly the same as that of two years ago when large numbers of men were in military service.

May Cut Production.

The present shortage has arisen in spite of the fact that farm wages are 15 to 25 per cent higher than last year. The situation, unremedied, cannot fail to have unfavorable effect on production, according to the United States department of agriculture, and will tend to prevent any reduction in the prices of farm products. While the total acreage undoubtedly will be reduced as a result of the present situation, it will not be in as large proportion as the reduction in the labor supply, because the farmers with their families are exerting themselves to the utmost to overcome their handicap. Cultivation this year will be less intensive than formerly. More land will be put into grass and such other crops as require a minimum of labor, it is said, and the tilled fields will be less intensively cultivated.

Secretary Meredith calls on all business men and students to spend their summer holidays helping relieve the present situation and so aid in combating high living costs. In making this appeal it is recognized that, at the outset at least, such labor is not as efficient as experienced farm labor, but the excellent results secured in 1918, when city men in large numbers aided the farmers, leave no doubt as to the success of the present drive if the men will respond.

Plan to Help Farmers.

The United States department of agriculture was represented by Asher Hobson at the meeting of the National Farm Labor conference held in Kansas City recently and the office of farm management, of which Mr. Hobson is assistant chief, is laying plans looking toward offering effective aid in dealing with the farm labor situation, particularly in the harvest season. It is expected that definite announcement regarding work along this line will be made in the near future. Until other provision has been made by the department all persons interested in finding work on farms should write to the directors of agricultural extension at the agricultural colleges in the various states. These directors are prepared to supply the names of county agents having farms in their respective counties that need farm labor. By this method anyone desiring to help on a farm can get in direct communication with the farmer.

Boy to Shun Racing.

Cleveland, O.—Carroll Buehler Shilling, aged four years, of Peoria, Ill., will not follow in his father's footsteps if his grandfather can prevent it. Herman Buehler, who left a $400,000 estate, made a bequest of $20,000 to his grandson, conditioned on his keeping out of the racing game. The child's father is one of the best known jockeys in the country, and a few years ago was a top-notch rider in the racing game. "I am strongly opposed to allowing my grandson to be put on a race track or to be employed in any manner in connection with horse-racing," Buehler's will declared.

Wolf Caught in Wire Fence.

Auburn, Neb.—James Holman, a farmer living in the Bratton Union neighborhood, in this county, procured an extra fine wolf pelt for a robe in a peculiar way. Recently he and his little daughter were walking along the road, when their attention was attracted to a large gray wolf which was struggling in the meshes of a woven wire fence. Holman left his little girl to guard the wolf while he went to a neighboring farm and borrowed a gun. He returned and shot the animal, which proved to be a large timber wolf.

Drowned by Gold Nuggets.

The latest good story, told by Representative Phil S. Locke of Aberdeen, Wash., purports to come from a rancher in the Hob district, where placer claims have recently excited concern. This rancher always kept a large, deep dish of water for the fowls during the dry summer months. He was last summer much perplexed by the number of his fowls that drowned in the dish, seemingly unable to help themselves. An autopsy performed on a drowned hen revealed the fact that the bird's crop was so full of gold nuggets that it was held under water by the weight.

ONE DRINK JAILS BRIDEGROOM

Brooklyn Judge Lets Him Go to Try to Square Things With His Wife-to-Be.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Tugged out in his wedding finery, namely, a perfectly correct afternoon outfit, Alexander Kioskowsky, aged forty, woke up in a cell.

His recollections of what happened were vague. He remembered he had started from his boarding house to make his first venture in married life. His wife-to-be was waiting for him. His disposition to be prompt at the altar was fixed in his mind, but a tempter whispered to him that one little glass of half of 1 per cent beer would not hurt him. The barman whispered "try whisky," as if he was doing him a favor, and he did. That was the last recollection he had until the cell custodian woke him up and told him to get ready to go to court.

The facts in the case were duly presented to Magistrate McGuire by Patrolman McGovern, who had picked the expectant bridegroom out of the gutter.

"If you promise me that you will not take another drink until you are safely married I'll let you go," said the magistrate.

Kioskowsky promised, with marked fervor, and then started out to square things with the woman who may or may not consent to be Mrs. Kioskowsky.

DELAWARE COUNTY NEWS

(Concluded from Page Three.)

The hotel at the time that the child was supposed to have been born. It was brought out in the evidence that on the night of May 12th a woman, consisting of four girls, one woman and one man, had passed the night at the hotel. At the autopsy conducted by Dr. Schuman and Coroner Woods on the 25th, it was determined that the child had been dead from 10 to 14 days, which would have the birth about May 12th. A broken stop jar which had remained in the hall upstairs for several months was found in the rubbish and contained the body of the child. An iron cylinder such as is used for burning paper was in the back yard of the hotel and into this the jar and child were placed. About a week after the contents of the cylinder were set afire and this accounts for the child being badly burned. The cylinder with its contents, were dumped on a load of ashes and while this load was passing over the sidewalk the end board of the wagon became loose and some of the contents along with the jar were seen to fall by a lady who was waiting to pass. This looked rather suspicious and upon investigation was found to be the body of a child encased in a piece of burial. The district attorney and coroner spent the entire afternoon and evening investigating the case and are not yet satisfied with their findings. The stage driver who took the show troop to Oneonta on May 13th, stated that one of the girls was so ill when she left the hotel that it was necessary to assist her to the conveyance—that she rode the entire distance to Oneonta with her head in the lap of one of the other women. The occupants of the hotel claim to have no knowledge of the illness of the woman and the matter is to be investigated further.

move the A. M. C. A. membership campaign, and many others. In industrial matters it has furnished meeting place for the Manufacturers' association, has investigated factory prospects, largely was instrumental in the organization of the Oneonta Ice Cream company, and rendered efficient service in many other matters of importance in this and in the mercantile world. It also interested itself largely in important general and local highway propositions, such as the proposed new route of bonds for state roads, the improvement of the Franklin-Meridale highway, the Lowman bill for county and state roads, motor truck transportation, etc. In legislation also it was active, the long list of bills mentioned by President Cull, showing that during the year it has had constantly in mind the best interests of the city, and has been ready either to oppose or commend as circumstances indicate the need.

Altogether the report of the President was a comprehensive document, and very fully and completely answered any query which might be made as to the activities of the chamber.

Secretary Walter's Report.

The report of Secretary Walter gave a clear conception of the work and worth of the Chamber of Commerce as exemplified by means of its every-day activities.

The records of the office, says the report, show that 140 meetings were held in the rooms of the organization during the year. The directors convened 24 times, the Manufacturers' association 16, the Merchants' association 6, the Boy Scouts council 14, War Chest 6, Fourth of July committee 14, grocers 4, bakers 4, and 55 committee meetings. There were 1,571 callers in the year, 2,100 telephone calls, 239 applications for employment, and 13,151 letters went from the office, which spells service in one form or another. Stenographic, clerical, and personal services were furnished in many ways, and the office was used as census headquarters, and for the follow-up work, by which overlooked residents were discovered. The work of the Christmas Seal drive, which included the sending of over 10,000 pieces of first-class mail, was taken over at the office, which also canvassed the monetary returns. Promotion of gardening in vacant lots was also carried on last year and this by the chamber, and the secretary of the chamber served also as secretary with several important organizations in which the chamber had interest. The above are by no means all the activities in which the organization had part, but the present incomplete resume amply justifies the existence of the organization, and its work.

In conclusion the Secretary exhorted to courage, intelligent planning and determination. "Dream, then," he said, "of a greater Oneonta, the product of earnest, united effort and the enthusiasm of a progressive and patriotic people, and work to have the dream come true. In the final analysis it will be the spirit of greatness in the heart of the people of Oneonta which will make for human happiness and the advancement and development of a Christian civilization that will measure the real greatness of Oneonta in the future."

The report of B. C. Lauren, treasurer, was read and showed total receipts during the year ended May 21, 1920, of $4,738.45, and expenditures of $4,628.15, leaving a balance on hand of $109.25. On motion of Hon. Charles Smith, the reports were ordered placed in the records and later published in full for the information of the membership and of citizens generally.

Favors Railway Freight Increase.

Following the reading of the reports, M. V. Beckstedt, division freight and passenger agent of the Delaware and Hudson company, introduced C. B. McManus of New York, general freight agent of the Ontario and Western railway, who fairly outlined the present conditions of railways as to equipment of all sorts and as to facilities for service. In order, he said, that the railways of the country should furnish adequate service, they must have sufficient money for the physical upkeep of the roads, for the payment of wages and for a fair return on the investment, thus enabling the railways to keep pace with the growing commerce of the nation. As an example, from his own road, he stated that the increase in expense of operation for the past year was 22 per cent, while the increase in receipts was only 57 per cent. At the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. McManus, who was accompanied to Oneonta by J. E. Powers of Oneida, O. B. Rowe presented the following resolution, seconded by L. P. Butts, and moved its adoption:

Whereas, The railroads in the official classification territory have petitioned the Interstate Commerce commission at Washington, and the Public Service commission, second district, state of New York, for an increase of not less than 20 per cent in freight rates, and

Whereas, The commercial interests of the country have been greatly hampered by the present condition of railroads growing out of a lack of adequate revenue to provide for the necessary increased facilities and equipment to properly care for the growing volume of freight to be transported, and

Whereas, The revenues of the railroads have largely been reduced through the mounting cost of operation, and

Whereas, Section 15-A of the interstate commerce act provides for a return to the carriers as a group, or in such groups as may be established, at 4 per cent as a maximum which it is held is substantially less than the minimum net operating income which the carriers should earn in the public interest and as a fair return on their property held for, and used in, the

SIX MONTHS I COULDN'T WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Me Strong and Able to Work—I Recommend It To All My Friends.

Barre, N. J. — "I had pains in back and legs so that I could not stand caused by female trouble. I felt so tired all the time, had bad headaches, and for six months I could not work. I was treated by a physician and took other remedies but got no relief. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me very much. I am well and strong and now able to do my work. I can not thank you enough and I recommend your medicine to my friends who are sick." — Mrs. SUSIE SACRANSEY, 25 East 11th St., Bayonne, N. J.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for over forty years, and today hold a record for such wonderful success as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

service of transportation; now therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce, in meeting assembled, do urge upon your honorable body a favorable consideration of the prayer of the petitioners and an affirmative answer be returned if the evidence adduced at the hearings before your honorable body seem to warrant and justify the same.

The resolution was unanimously adopted, after which the meeting adjourned.
